A FRIEND

Sincerity is the word I give to you,
on this a special day.
Sincerity is the word I give,
with a promise so real and true.
Sincere Friendship I find with you in mind,
will last through eternity.
Real Friendship implies no more than this,
that each will truly care.
A promise I bring to you this day,
of a love you cannot quell.
I want you to know that you have captured my soul,
with the smile upon your face.
Your eyes will show, what I already know,
of the beauty that only you can bestow.
Your voice gives me purpose for all that I do,
as its chime rings clear and true.
Your words, your smile, your eyes so rare,
so wonderfully full of care.
Through your eyes I see the world go slow,
all things begin to glow.
Your name brings tempest to my soul,
and my heart begins to roll.
I yearn to know, to share, to dream,
your hopes become my every care.
Our likes and dislikes we will share,
finding much to be the same.
But as we compare of all we share,
in all we must find true care.
As the truth of real sharing and caring surrounds,
we will find in each other that true Friendship abounds.
You are the one who brings joy as I travel life's ploy,
which continually brings downfall and defeat.
For others it must seem as a great big dream,
that again the aminal instinct has won.
But to you and to me with the knowledge , that ~~we have~~ a true Friendship exists only we can see.